

CAMBRIDGE JOURNAL OF ECONOMICS

ISSN 0309-166x, e-ISSN 1464-3545

Vol. 46, n. 5, September 2022

Consulta en línea

INTRODUCTION

- Conceptualising financialisation in developing and emerging economies: the diversity within a unity
Carolina Alves, Bruno Bonizzi, Annina Kaltenbrunner and José Gabriel Palma 921

ARTICLES

- The regional distinctiveness and variegation of financialisation in emerging economies
Ewa Karwowski 931
- Financialisation as the development of fictitious capital in developing and developed economies
Maria de Lourdes Rollemberg Mollo, Fernando Fellows Dourado and Edemilson Paraná 955
- External finance, subordinated financialisation: a reflection on Argentina's currency flights in the last three decades
Roberto Lampa, Daniela Tavasci and Luigi Ventimiglia 977
- Connecting financialisation and structural change: a critical appraisal regarding Brazil
Mariana Finello Corrêa and Carmem Feijo 1005
- The Indian road to financialisation: a case study of the Indian telecommunication sector
Jai Bhatia 1025
- Peripheral financialisation and monopoly capitalism in Nigeria: the case of the Dangote Business Group
Richard Itaman and Christina Wolf 1045
- Financialisation of monetary policy in a dollarised economy: the case of Georgia
Dr. Ia Eradze 1073
- A financial straitjacket? Côte d'Ivoire's National Development Banks
Georges Quist 1087
- Financialisation and the authoritarian state: the case of Russia
Anna Mishura and Svetlana Ageeva 1109
- Advancing policy frameworks to safeguard financial stability in developing and emerging economies: the case of South Korea's management of international financial flows after 1998
Max Nagel 1141
- Helpless victim of financialisation? Financial liberalisation, crisis and taking back control in South Korea
Anne Henow 1161
- Financialisation of developing and emerging economies and China's experience: how China resists financialisation
Fusheng Xie, Xiaolu Kuang and Zhi Li 1183