

OECD ECONOMIC SURVEYS

CROATIA

ISSN 0376-6438, e-ISSN 1609-7513

21 September 2023

Consulta en línea desde Intranet

Acknowledgments	3
Executive summary	9
1 Achieving sustainable convergence	14
2 Key policy insights	19
Challenges lie ahead for managing sustainable catch-up	20
The surge in inflation has slowed growth	20
Healthy public finances to sustain stronger growth	33
Boosting the energy transition for a higher-quality environment	47
References	56
3 Improving the business environment to accelerate convergence	60
Widespread productivity gaps call for improving the business environment	61
Strengthening framework conditions for business	65
Expanding financing options to encourage innovative investment	81
Strengthening the performance of state-owned enterprises	88
References	94
4. A better performing labour market for inclusive convergence	98
Introduction	99
Raising skills for a more productive and dynamic workforce	103
Improving active labour market policies	113
Social protection to support employment, inclusiveness, and well-being	115
Wage setting to encourage higher productivity	117
Improving access to housing to support mobility and well-being	123
Ensuring the pension system supports longer working lives and well-being in retirement	129
References	135

PERU

ISSN 0376-6438, e-ISSN 1609-7513

27 September 2023

Acknowledgments	3
Executive summary	9
1 Key Policy Insights	14
Achieving higher living standards requires ambitious structural reforms	15
The economy is resilient, but there are significant risks	19
Activity has slowed down and inflation remains high	19
Economic growth will remain weak in an uncertain environment	23
Short to long-term downside risks loom large	24
Financial stability risks seem contained	27
The macroeconomic framework could be further strengthened	30
Reforms are needed to increase efficiency of public finances	32
Fiscal policy should remain prudent and rebuild fiscal buffers	32
A comprehensive tax reform is needed to address long-standing challenges	35
Making public spending more effective by reforming subnational finances	40
A long-term politically feasible fiscal reform agenda	43
Addressing climate change risks to foster sustainable and inclusive growth	44
Deep emissions reductions are required for Peru to reach net zero	44
Further efforts are needed to reverse deforestation	45
Reducing GHG emissions from energy and transport	46
References	50
2 Boosting long-term growth	54
Introduction: Peru's long-term growth challenges	55
An analysis of Peru's business environment	56
Promoting competitive and innovative markets	60
Fostering competitive markets with effective competition policy	60
Reducing compliance costs with regulation	63
Advancing the modernisation of regulatory policy	65
Leveraging financial inclusion and promoting financial competition	67
Diversifying exports and moving up the value chain	69
Improving innovation and R&D support	71
Strengthening the rule of law	73
Continuing the fight against corruption	73
Improving judicial performance	77
Improving state capacity for public investment and service delivery	81
Closing infrastructure gaps requires significant public investment	81
Re-starting the civil service reform	84
Strengthening public procurement	87
Improving multi-level governance and coordination	88
Strengthening the governance of public infrastructure investment	90
References	93
3 All together: Making growth more inclusive in Peru	100
Introduction	101
Poverty and inequality remain high	103
Widespread informality undermines convergence to higher living standards	104
Labour market reforms to boost job quality	109
Rigid employment regulations prevent many workers from accessing high-quality jobs	109
The minimum wage is relatively high compared to the median wage	110
High non-wage labour costs are a barrier to formalisation	112
Achieving universal social protection while reducing incentives to informality	114
Social protection is fragmented and has low funding and coverage	114
Stepping up the fight against poverty	115
Boosting protection against job loss	119
Providing adequate pensions for all	120
Ensuring universal access to high quality health care services	124
Better access to high quality education and training is key for equity and productivity	127
Addressing unequal educational attainment	127
Improving the quality of education	129
Improving the transition from education to the labour market	131
References	133