

NEW TECHNOLOGY, WORK AND EMPLOYMENT

ISSN 0268-1072, e-ISSN 1468-005X

Vol. 31, n. 1, March 2016

Consulta en línea desde MEYSS

The Politics of Projects in Technology-Intensive Work Damian E Hodgson, Monica Lindgren, Johann Packendorff and Svetlana Cicmil	1
Performing projects with constant connectivity: interplay of consulting project work practices and smartphone affordances Bijan Azad, Randa Salamoun, Anita Greenhill and Trevor Wood-Harper	4
Project managers on the edge: liminality and identity in the management of technical work Steve Paton and Damian Hodgson	26
Gender (in)equality contested: externalising employment in the construction industry Gunilla Olofsdotter and Maria Rasmusson	41
The project (management) discourse and its consequences: on vulnerability and unsustainability in project-based work Svetlana Cicmil, Monica Lindgren and Johann Packendorff	58
Regular Articles
Who and where are the flexible workers? Exploring the current diffusion of telework in Sweden Bertil Vilhelmson and Eva Thulin	77
Book review Hazel Mawdsley	97