

POPULATION STUDIES

ISSN 0032-4728, e-ISSN 1477-4747

Vol. 75, supplement 1, 2021

Consulta en línea desde Intranet

Wendy Sigle, Alice Reid, Rebecca Sear	75 years of Population Studies : A diamond anniversary special issue	S1
Melinda C. Mills and Charles Rahal	Population Studies at 75 years: An empirical review	S7
Ronald Skeldon	Moving towards the centre or the exit? Migration in population studies and in Population Studies 1996–2021	S27
Ridhi Kashyap	Has demography witnessed a data revolution? Promises and pitfalls of a changing data ecosystem	S47
Raya Muttarak	Demographic perspectives in research on global environmental change	S77
Alyson A. van Raalte	What have we learned about mortality patterns over the past 25 years?	S105
Elsbeth Graham	Theory and explanation in demography: The case of low fertility in Europe	S133
Alice Reid	Why a long-term perspective is beneficial for demographers	S157
Svenn-Erik Mamelund and Jessica Dimka	Not the great equalizers: Covid-19, 1918–20 influenza, and the need for a paradigm shift in pandemic preparedness	S179
Rebecca Sear	Demography and the rise, apparent fall, and resurgence of eugenics	S201
Rishita Nandagiri	What's so troubling about 'voluntary' family planning anyway? A feminist perspective	S221
Wendy Sigle	Demography's theory and approach: (How) has the view from the margins changed?	S235
John Ermisch	Looking to the future of Population Studies	S253